

HIGH WATERS SWEEP COLUMBIANA COUNTY

Floods Drive Ohioans From Homes

200 FAMILIES IN SPRINGFIELD SUFFER LOSSES

Circleville Isolated As Waters Close Roads
To Columbus

RAIN THREAT ADDS TO PRESENT DANGER

Property Damage Will Be Over Three Millions,
Is Belief

Columbus, O., Feb. 27.—More than 200 families are homeless, property damage is expected to exceed $3-000,000, transportation and communication are crippled and in some places disrupted as the results of the torrential rains over the central part of Ohio Tuesday night which caused many streams to leave their banks and go on the rampage, according to a checkup today.

Flood dangers still loom as the result of the governmental forecast which predicted rain for tomorrow.
Springfield was the hardest hit section of the state. Buck creek broke from its banks, forced more than 200 persons in its valley to flee their homes and did property damage that is expected to approximate $1,500,000.

300 Homes Flooded
The Mad river left its banks near Dayton and flooded 200 homes, causing their occupants to vacate.
They were cared for last night at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters and the Union settlement building at Dayton and money was taken from the "Glen Clay" community chest to provide for them.

Newark suffered heavily from the rising waters of four adjacent streams when they inundated the lands, marooned 75 persons who were afterwards rescued by police and firemen, and caused a property loss of nearly $500,000.

Other sections of the Buckeye state, though reporting flooded roads and swamped lowlands, escaped the brunt of the floods. The Muskingum river did not threaten to reach the flood stage today.
Other central Ohio rivers and streams, though at high stages, did not provide flood menaces.

Circleville Isolated Circleville, which was cut off from Columbus yesterday by the rising waters of the Scioto river, which tore across the lowlands, swept a temporary bridge from its foundations on the Scioto trail and inundated the roads in several other places, had not been able to provide an accurate estimate of its losses at this hour today.

Cells were flooded in many Ohio communities and accurate property damage suffered could not be checked or estimated.
In many districts, residents were reminded of the epochal 1913 flood when several hundred persons in Ohio lost their lives, as nearly every stream and river in the state burst

MARSHAL FOCH NOW IMPROVED

Famous Leader's Condition Has Been Critical In Past Few Days;
Temperature Down
Paris, Feb. 27.—Marshal Foch's condition was slightly improved today according to the following bulletin issued by physicians attending him this morning.
"The marshal's temperature has been reduced to 99. His pulse is 86.
There is slight improvement in the pulmonary congestion."
Dr. Heltz-Boyer, one of the physicians attending the 77-year-old veteran campaigner, was much glad today over the improvement in his condition.
"The marshal has made a wonderful battle," he told an International News Service staff correspondent. "He is lucid of eye today and appears to be taking a great interest in things about him."

Poison Fatal

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for John E. Kent, 32, a salesman, following his death last night at a hospital from the effects of an overdose of poison. Police said they thought the death accidental but a friend of the victim said he had been ill and dependent for the last several days.

COLUMBIANA GRANGE MEMBERS GATHER AT MEMORIAL BUILDING

State Speakers On Program at Institute; Home Making Is Subject of Morning Address; Balance of Program Announced

Mrs. Lottie M. Randolph, New Lexington, and Guy W. Miller, of the rural economics department of Ohio State university, Columbus, gave main talks on the program at the opening session of the Salem Farmers' Institute Wednesday morning at Memorial building.
This institute is sponsored by five granges, Salem, Goshen, Mt.
Nebo, Willow Grove and Perry and the Salem Better Business bureau.
The state speakers are: Mrs. Lottie M. Randolph, New Lexington; Joseph W. Fichter, Hamilton, lecturer Ohio State grange; F. W.
Dean, Wooster, Ohio experiment station; Guy W. Miller, Columbus, Ohio State university, and F. S.
Barlow, Wooster, field secretary of the Ohio Guernsey Breeders association.
About 150 grangers were in attendance at the opening and more are expected later.
Mrs. Randolph discussed "Home Making a Business." In opening her talk Mrs. Randolph asked the ques-

Death Follows In Flood Wake

Massillon Man Killed;
Ohio River Threat
Growing

Massillon, Feb. 27.—William B.
Lee, proprietor of a restaurant here,
was electrocuted today when he attempted to start an electric pump to drain flood waters from the basement of his restaurant.
Lee went to the basement when the flood waters threatened to rise above the floor level of his lunch room. He threw the switch which would have turned on the pump, a short circuit was set up by the wet equipment and Lee fell dead.

Circleville, O., Feb. 27.—The western part of Pickaway county is isolated from Circleville, the county seat, today. The highway from Circleville to Washington Court House is under nine feet of water in places.
With the Scioto river at Circleville eight feet above floodstage, several families west of the city have been compelled to abandon their flooded homes.
No serious damage has resulted in Pickaway county, however.

East Liverpool, O., Feb. 27.—The Ohio river at this point will reach the 33-foot floodstage early tomorrow, lock tenders at dam No. 8, near here, predicted today. Flood stage is 33 feet. The river is now at the 24 foot level and is rising at the rate of six inches an hour.
Indications are that lowlands in Wellsville, O., Congo, W. Va., and Smith's Ferry, Pa., will be inundated.

Circleville, O., Feb. 27.—If one were a marathon swimmer he could go from here to Washington Court House today.
Or an aviator could traverse the distance.

But it would be just too bad for the motorist who attempted to negotiate the journey.
For the Williamsport road,
which connects the two cities,
is under nine feet of water in places.
Virtually every road leading westward from here is impossible today, due to the floods, the western part of Pickaway county being cut off from its county seat, Circleville.

No serious damage has resulted as yet, but several families west of here have been removed from flooded homes.
The Scioto river at Circleville was at the 18-foot mark at 1 o'clock this afternoon, eight feet above floodstage. It is the highest since 1913, and is still upward bent. A 24-foot stage was recorded in 1913.

Robins Arrive In Salem Town

Several Salem residents reported that Robins have arrived in the city. This indeed seems to be an indication of early spring.
Some of the birds winter in this vicinity and are seen from time to time, but the number of reports today make it evident that the first of the migratory birds have arrived.

Templar Inspection

Edwin G. Craun, of Sandusky, was in charge of the annual commandery inspection of the Salem Knights Templar, held at the Masonic temple, Tuesday night.

SENATE PASSES AUTO DRIVERS' LICENSING BILL

House Passage Probable; Amendment Now Is Attached

WOULD INCREASE BUCKEYE REVENUE

50 Cent Fee For Each Driver; Would Cut
Insurance

Columbus, O., Feb. 27.—Every auto driver in the state will be forced to pay an annual fee of 50 cents for a drivers' license if the Nickels bill, passed by the senate yesterday, receives the same treatment in the lower house of the legislature and becomes an Ohio law.
Under original provisions of the bill, a dollar fee would have been required, but an amendment accepted by the upper house reduced this to 50 cents. 35 for the examination for the driving license and 15 cents for the issuance of the license certificate.

The bill passed by a vote of 19 to 8 after a long floor fight among the senators, in which 10 of the 27 senators present took part.
Criminal Procedure Bill Passage of the Gillen bill by the senate, which recodifies the law on criminal procedure, also occupied a portion of the limelight. It is 143 pages long and most of its changes are technical revamping of the laws as they now stand. The bill goes to the house.

Sen. George H. Bender, Cleveland, who led the attack on the Nickels drivers license measure, charged that it was placing an additional tax burden on motorists and asked
"when are we going to stop picking the feathers off the motorist?" Sen. W. G. Nickels, sponsor of the bill, replied by saying that it would reduce reckless driving and the number of automobile accidents besides reducing automobile liability insurance premiums.

Approximately $700,000 yearly will

GASOLINE BANDIT DRAWS SENTENCE

Ernest Bonanna Gets 12 To 15 Years For Robbery

Lisbon, Feb. 26.—Ernest Bonanna of Lima, who was jointly indicted by a special grand jury Feb. 11 with James Kelly, also of Lima and who entered a plea of guilty of robbing a filling station at East Liverpool in January, was sentenced by Judge W. Frank Lones in common pleas court at 10 o'clock this morning to from 12 to 15 years in the Ohio penitentiary. Kelley had been previously sentenced to from 15 to 25 years in the penitentiary.

Michael Kohn, who entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with the burglary of the Sumers store at North Georgetown last January was sentenced to from one to 15 years at Mansfield.
Fending his behavior, he will probably be released at the expiration of the minimum sentence.

With these two cases disposed of finally, only one indictment returned by the regular and special grand jury remains to be disposed of, this being the indictment against Teofil Andrei of Salem, charged with possessing intoxicating liquor, third offense. A motion is now before the court in this case but it has not been disposed of.

Indicted by a special grand jury
Feb. 11 for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, John A. Wood Jr., of East Liverpool, Ralph Wooley, aged 19 and Herman Riesmeyer, 40, both of East Liverpool were found guilty by a jury in common pleas court shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The trial of these two men started before Judge W. F. Lones Monday morning. The court appointed Attorney P. V. Mackall of East Liverpool to defend the accused, and Mr.
Mackall then had Attorney W. A.
O'Grady of Wellsville associated in the case. The defense had three days to file a motion for a new trial, before sentence is pronounced.

Ohio 1928 Deaths Show Increase

Columbus, Feb. 27.—Deaths in Ohio last year numbered 38,129, or 6657 more than in 1927, a report of the state division of vital statistics shows.
The death rate for 1928 was figured at 12.08, which compares with 73,466 deaths and a death rate of 11.25 for 1927.
Heart disease caused a majority of the deaths in 1928, the number being 14,464.
Deaths in automobile accidents totaled 1607. There were 874 suicides and 506
homicides during the year.

SALEM BUSINESS BUREAU HOLDS BANQUET MEET

Name of Group Changed; Committees Are Appointed

Seventy-five members of the Salem Business Bureau and guests attended a special dinner meeting of the organization, held at the Memorial building auditorium, Tuesday night.

The attendance at the meeting was the largest in the history of the organization. In the past year the membership of the bureau increased approximately 100 per cent last night's session being called for the purpose of introducing new members.
Walter L. Strain welcomed the new members in a short talk, explaining the purposes of the organization, and summarized reasons why it should be a permanent association, representative of the city's best business interests.

Music Entertains
The banquet was held in the auditorium at 6:30, where the bureau members and guests were entertained by vocal selections offered by the Kiwanis quartet, consisting of Robert Wright, Arnold P. Lites, William King and Ralph Snyder.
Miss Hilda Rose Stahl, dramatic instructor of Salem High school was introduced by George W. Bunn, president, and under her direction
a play, "The Travelers," was staged by nine members of the Salemas-quers, high school dramatic club.

Following the entertainment the bureau convened in the business chamber of the building, for a business session.
The constitution and by-laws,
drafted by a committee appointed by Bunn, consisting of Strain and R. W. Hawley, was read and approved by the body. Under the name of the organization was changed from the Better Business Bureau to the Salem Business Bureau.

Committees Are Named Committees for the year were named by Bunn. They are:
Legislative—J. R. Stratton; B. L.
Flick; Russell Burns; Dallas Kelley; Sam Leveson and C. M. Wilson.
Industrial—W. L. Strain, chairman; F. R. Pos, R. W. Hawley; K.
L. Webster, and W. F. Eckstein.
Trade extension—R. S. McCulloch, chairman; J. A. Schwartz; A.
K. Switzer; C. W. Kaminsky and Solbert Greenberger.
Civic—C. W. Kaminsky, chairman; Louis Bloomberg; Ella Stamp; E. E. Hauser, and W. L. Fults.
Membership—J. A. Schwartz; R.
H. Campbell; M. P. Ellsworth; J. L.
Hutchinson, and John W. Lease.
Financial—J. R. Stratton, chairman; W. L. Strain; R. S. McCulloch; C. W. Kaminsky, and J. A.
Schwartz.

No other business matters were discussed to any great length, it being decided that all issues which members wish to bring up should be referred to the secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, for action at future meetings.
Meetings will be held at 9:30 a.
m. every second Tuesday of the month, at the bureau headquarters.

AKRON RESIDENT TO DIE IN CHAIR

John Sabo Must Pay Penalty For Murder of Man In 1926,
Supreme Court Rules

Columbus, Feb. 27.—John Sabo of Akron, must die in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here for the murder of Burton C. Painter, whom he shot to death at Akron in May, 1926, the Ohio supreme court ruled today in upholding the judgment of the Summit county court.
The supreme court will later fix the date of the electrocution, having previously granted an indefinite stay of the original sentence, pending final disposition of Sabo's appeal.

In confirming the judgment of the lower court, the higher tribunal ruled that the common pleas court had no jurisdiction to hear or grant a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly-discovered evidence.

CAPITAL TENSE WHILE HOOVER PLANS CABINET

Three Positions Vacant
Is Rumor About
S Street Office

DEMOCRAT CITED FOR HIGH POST

Eleventh Hour Selections Seem Likely; Plenty
Of Material

Washington, Feb. 27.—Herbert Hoover is experiencing tough sledding in the completion of his cabinet personnel, according to all indications today.

From behind the veil of secrecy that the president-elect has thrown about his operations, there leaked reliable reports today that there are still three yawning vacancies in the state. These involve the attorney-generalship, the secretaryship of agriculture, and the secretaryship of commerce.

It isn't that there aren't enough candidates. The capital, as inauguration days draws near, is fairly running over with cabinet material.
Some of them have come to see the inauguration. But others have been drawn to Washington to be on the spot should there be any eleventh hour lightning crackling up and down Pennsylvania avenue.

Democrat Mentioned
There was ominous muttering in Republican quarters on Capitol hill today over the reports that Mr.
Hoover was toying with the idea of offering the attorney generalship to a Democrat—William D. Mitchell of Minnesota, now solicitor general of the United States.

The fact that a Democrat is even being mentioned for the post indicates that the president-elect is in a pretty serious dilemma. He wants a lawyer of eminence for the post who at the same time is a sincere and constitutional dry.
Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, and Justice Harlan F. Stone of the supreme court, have already declined to consider it, according to the most authoritative information.

Three names were said to be still on the president-elect's desk today for the agricultural portfolio—A. G.
Glover, Wisconsin dirt farmer; L. J.
Taber, of Ohio, master of the national grange; and ex-Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie of Nebraska.
Thomas D. Campbell of Montana, the wheat king of the northwest, is said to have been eliminated. He has returned west after several conferences here with Mr. Hoover, in which it is said a cabinet post was not discussed.

Posts Are Refused
Mr. Hoover was represented today as still hopeful of persuading Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles economist and banker, to take a cabinet post—the secretaryship of commerce, with the understanding that he would become secretary of the treasury upon the retirement of Secretary Mellon, which is expected not later than midway of the Hoover term.

Robinson has been doing a considerable amount of cabinet "scouting" for Mr. Hoover. His friends assert he has performed these duties as a matter of friendship for the president-elect and not because he wants—or would take—any place at Mr. Hoover's disposal.
Clarence M. Woolley, the radiator manufacturer, who has frequently been called into consultation with Mr. Hoover on economic problems in the past few years, is another possibility.
Dr. Julius Klein, director of foreign commerce under Hoover, and around whom a great deal of speculation for the commerce post has been concentrated, is cut out for another post, according to reports today.

MAYOR REMAINS CHICAGO HEAD

Thompson Forces Victorious In Election In Windy City; Lose But Few

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Mayor William Hale Thompson's forces today remained in control of the city council following yesterday's election. The so-called "reform" faction won only a few seats.
Leaders of the latter group blamed inclement weather for their poor showing.

Thompson's hardest blow was the loss of one of his floor leaders, although 33 aldermen who have supported his administration during the last two years were re-elected for another two years.

The election, to the surprise of many, went off quietly. To the police, however, the day of calm was no surprise. They were unusually well prepared for trouble, and, in the words of Deputy Commissioner John Stege, "gangland knew it."
"The serpent knew that if it raised its head, it would be knocked off," Stege said.
Nevertheless, Stege admitted, department chiefs breathed a sigh of relief when the day was done and
"no fireworks had started."

Heads Veterans

FOR the first time at any Inaugural, confederate organizations will be present. General T. A. Goodwin, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate veterans, has accepted an invitation to attend the inauguration of President-elect Hoover. Other confederate organizations are following his lead.

MAYOR BINDS AKRON MAN TO GRAND JURY

Leroy Brown Enters Plea
Of Guilty To Auto
Theft Charge

LeRoy Brown, colored, of Akron, entered a plea of guilty before Mayor Phil G. Hiddleson, today, to a charge of stealing and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, and was bound over to the county grand jury on $500 bond.

Brown was arrested by Akron authorities Sunday where, according to police, he had been wanted in connection with the theft of the machine belonging to Robert Bates of Salem, since last August. He was brought to this city by Police Chief T. W. Thompson last night.
The Bates auto was stolen from Mill st. Aug. 19, 1928, and the next day, Akron authorities, notified of the car's theft surprised a man, said to be Brown in the act of painting the machine. Detective L. G. Lite of Akron, shot at the man several times, but he escaped from the city.
The car was brought to Salem.
Word received by Mayor Hiddleson Monday, from E. J. McDonnell, chief of detectives in Akron, stated that Brown had been apprehended by Lite, and had admitted the theft.

American public school official today was held by Frank Cody, superin-

Cody's name was the only one placed in nomination and he was

RENEW BATTLE ON MINE FIRE

Water From Creek Turned Into Callahan Mine In Efforts To Extinguish Blaze

Efforts were being renewed today in battling the mine fire, which for seven weeks has been burning in the Homer Callahan Mining company mine, situated on the Salem-Lisbon rd. five miles south of Salem.
A creek, running adjacent to the mine, was this morning turned on its course and is emptying approximately 400 gallons of water per minute into the mine, being ravaged by the blaze. Entrance will probably be made into the mine this afternoon by Homer Callahan, owner, and Thomas A. Reese, state mining inspector, to investigate conditions.
The mine was resealed by state inspectors last Friday after it was discovered that the fire was still burning.

HIGHWAYS HIT BY FLOOD WATER

Lisbon - Salem Route Is Threatened For Time;
Autos Stall

Lisbon, Feb. 27.—With a rainfall of 1.40 inches in Columbiana county during the last 48 hours all streams are running bank full in some instances, and in some spots farm lands and main highways are flooded.

At Elkton, in Elkrun township, cellars of all homes were filled with water from the middle fork of Beaver Creek, and the Lisbon-Elkton
rd. was covered with between three and four feet of water, with the water rising at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. A lot of poultry was drowned at Elkton.

Farm Land Submerged
In the vicinity of Brown's bridge on the Lincoln Highway, south of Lisbon, all low lands were submerged between five and six feet of water covering the farms along that part of the south fork of Beaver Creek.
The Lincoln Highway west of Lisbon and in the vicinity of East Rochester and Kensington was covered with about a foot of water, Sandy creek having overflowed its banks.

A number of small county bridges in Franklin township were washed out Monday and Tuesday night.
While rural mail carriers were able to get over their routes Tuesday, it was said that the mud road sections were the worst experienced during the current season.

Autos Stall in Water
On the Westville-Sebring rd, low sections of this highway were flooded and a number of automobiles being driven through the water went
"dead."

At West Point in Madison township, water in the west fork of Beaver creek rose to within two feet of the floor of the bridges. No damage has been reported to either the State Highway department or County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk from Washington township, or in the vicinity of Salineville.

A rapid rise of water in the middle fork of Beaver creek in the vicinity of Shelton's grove on the Salem-Lisbon rd. was reported, but the water did not flow over the highway as it did in June 1925.

The flood at Elkton was the worst experienced since 1915, residents there have reported.

THOSE WHITE CROSSES

For several years it has been the practice of the state highway department to have white crosses erected wherever there have been deaths as a result of automobile accidents. Today there are several thousand of these crosses scattered up and down the roads.

Now Robert N. Waid, state highway director, has decided definitely against the practice of erecting any more of the crosses. Gov. Donahey inaugurated the practice, believing the crosses would be silent reminders to the careless motorist or pedestrian.

While Mr. Waid gives no reason for his intentions to discontinue the practice of erecting the white crosses, it is presumed he is motivated by a desire to do away with the expense entailed. And there is no question that it has been an expensive practice.

The question naturally arises, however, if the money thus saved will compensate for whatever good the crosses may have accomplished? Is one safe in saying that this money has been wisely expended? Have the crosses accomplished anything at all in accident elimination?

If the white crosses have saved one life since the practice of erecting them was begun, we would be the last to agree with the state highway director that no more of them should be put up. But it is questionable if this one life may be traced to the influence, if any, wielded by the silent sentinels of death standing along the highways of the state.

Grim reminders of tragedy that they are, how many motorists are there who will agree that the sight of a cluster of these crosses will cause him to reduce his driving speed from 50 miles an hour to the 35 miles an hour permitted under state law? Very few. However the argument is advanced that the sight of these white crosses has a sobering effect on the man or woman who wants to speed. They are easily seen, they tell their story effectively. But do they save lives?

No doubt psychology has its place in the general scheme of things. Humans grow lax without constant reminding, no matter what one's good intentions may be. Folks need constant jacking up. And while each of the hundreds of white crosses preaches its own sermon, and acts as a sentinel challenging a driver's right to forget, the question persists—do they save lives?

Might it not be better investment for the state to turn its attention to grade crossing elimination and added safeguards along the highways? The crosses cost money, and it costs money to have the state highway department workmen erect them, and maintain them. And so long as there is congestion on the highways, and grade crossings, there will be additional deaths and accidents.

There is the angle of physical beauty of the landscape to be considered, also. In the next five years with traffic deaths maintained at the same ratio as the present, the highways will be cluttered up with more white crosses than ever, and with the death list still growing at an appalling rate. In the meantime the physical beauty of a bit of landscape has been destroyed by the grim reminders of tragedies of the past.

Highway Director Waid is within rights in making the announcement that he will discontinue erecting the crosses. And there is no question that he should think twice before carrying out his purpose. The crosses have become something of an institution in Ohio, and to discontinue erecting them will be a radical step—one which would be considered from all angles.

But insofar as we are concerned, we fail to appreciate that the intention of Gov. Donahey has been the success he expected when he issued his order to put up the tragedy crosses. The money to be saved in the highway department, if they are eliminated, will amount to a considerable sum in a few years, and if it is turned into wise channels no one will have any great objections, we believe, to doing away with the crosses.

What Others Say

SPAIN AND IBANEZ
It is not entirely surprising to hear of a threatened insurrection movement in the province and city of Valencia, Spain. Any open discontent was not to be expected, but beneath the surface there has been a line of activity that followed the train of thought laid out by the late Blas Ibanez, the sociological and literary pride of the Valencianos. It will not have been forgotten that for several years prior to his death Ibanez was an exile from his native land and a resident of southern France. The reason for the eminent writer's discredit in Spain that forced him to remain abroad under pain of arrest and punishment was obvious enough. The writer had used his powerful pen to attack King Alfonso and the monarchy in most vitriolic terms. Even the good-natured and easy-going king could not with dignity, or even safety to the monarchic idea, fail to draw the line against such articles as came from his embittered pen. But while on the surface Valencia seemed to bear resentment against her insubordinate son, there was deep down a sympathy for him and for his sociological theories, the latter violently opposed to kingship. One had only to read Ibanez's war romance of the "Three Horsemen of the Apocalypse" to recognize his fury against monarchs and military.

Following Ibanez's death it seemed as if his passing had closed the controversy but the other day it flamed forth anew and more violently than ever. This man Ibanez, who had called the Spanish ruler all the harsh names in his tremendous vocabulary of invectives, was suddenly done high honor by the city of Valencia, which changed the name of her most important avenue to "Avenida Blas Ibanez." It was as if New Orleans, at a certain period of her history over a century ago, had changed her "Rue Royale" to "Aaron Burr street," except that even then the alteration would not have been a personal affront to a hereditary monarch.

The Valencian action would appear to be a formal joining of the issue with the monarch at Madrid. Primo de Rivera, however, is still too firmly in control for there to be an early prospect of overt action, but the posting of Ibanez's name so prominently is an obvious warning to the land that Valencia is strongly disaffected, as indeed is, and long has been, the Catalan country to the north, including the great city of Barcelona.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

I HAD TO FORCE MYSELF TO WORK

But I Had Renewed Energy, Fine Appetite, Sound Sleep, After Taking Owa-Ton-Na

Almost beyond belief are some of the cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and general run-down condition, which are yielding to Owa-Ton-Na wherever it is being introduced to eager health seekers. Thousands who have found help through this remedy are happy to let all who suffer know what blessings and health Owa-Ton-Na brings.

Mr. J. D. Circle, Salem, Route 3, says, "For several years I have been gradually going down hill. My health was not what it should be, my bowels were always constipated, and I constantly had to take laxatives and physics but they gave me no permanent relief.

"My liver was sluggish and inactive. Frequent attacks of gas and bloating spells gave me a great deal of misery. Dizzy spells and headaches seemed to be daily occurrences. As if this were not enough, my kidneys started to go back on me, causing me to have terrible backaches and get up several times at night to relieve them. These troubles seemed to keep my nerves in very bad condition.

"I had heard a great deal about Indian Herb medicines and when Owa-Ton-Na was recommended to me, I decided to try it and I certainly am glad I did, as it has made a big change in my condition. Constipation is relieved, my stomach feels fine and I can now eat anything without gas and bloating spells. My kidneys are acting normally and once again I can get a

CLEAR AIR PASSAGES OF NOSE AND THROAT

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

In my mail are many letters about difficult breathing. Old people, young people, babies—it makes no difference what the age may be, or the sex, there are many persons who suffer from this symptom.

Perhaps this is a good time to discuss the subject. By doing so in a formal way, all the letters of inquiry are answered at once.

There is a multitude of causes for difficult breathing. In the first place it often travels along with alteration of the normal conditions of the blood. For instance, following an infection there may be the development of poisons which affect the breathing.

Wrong diet with intestinal fermentation may result in an acid condition of the system. This is what is sometimes called "acidosis." It may have difficult breathing as one of its signs.

There are various nervous and mechanical states which have their effects upon the ease of breathing. Among such we find obstructions in the nose, throat or bronchial tubes. A polypus in the nose, or a swelling of the mucous lining of the breathing apparatus may interfere with its proper action.

Sometimes the breathing muscles of the chest may be disturbed and incapable of normal breathing. This is what happens in pleurisy when the chest is filled with fluid. This prevents free action of the diaphragm and regular breathing.

Besides these causes of uncon-fortable and difficult breathing, we find other cases which can be traced to interferences with free circulation of the blood through the lungs. There may be some disturbance in the action of the heart. The blood is not sent through the lungs in proper fashion. In consequence the blood is impaired in its content and the victims struggle for more oxygen.

This is a brief recital of three causes which may produce labored breathing. Let me describe in a little more detail some of these effects.

Perhaps one of the most common causes for the symptom is gas formation in the stomach and intestines. A mild attack of indigestion may result in tremendous gas formation. The diaphragm is pressed upon and the patient thinks the "heart is under pressure."

If there is a chronic heart trouble, the disturbance with gas may aggravate it. Both factors work together to make the breathing very difficult.

In acidosis, as I have said, there may be some trouble. Usually the breathing is very deep. It may not be terribly labored, but it seems to go to the very toes.

In pneumonia the lungs are clogged. It is not surprising that in this disease the breathing is interfered with and consequently may be very rapid.

Adenoids and enlarged tonsils in children are common causes for the symptom. There is no hope of complete relief until these are properly treated. It stands to reason that blocking of the nasal and throat passages will interfere with breathing.

This is a brief and somewhat incomplete statement regarding the cause of abnormal breathing. If it helps you to understand the symptom, I shall be very glad. Your doctor will complete the picture.

Things To Know About Our Service

The Evolution of Light

THIRTY thousand years ago the Stone Age man learned first how to conquer the darkness of his cave by fire . . . and then that a fish or a bird wrapped in fibrous material made a good torch. When he found that the dripping fat from this also burned, he had invented the first oil lamp.

Later, light became symbolic of power to the Egyptians, and so it was they who added beauty to their oil and charcoal lamps. Greece contributed carved marble and bronze lamp tripods, while Rome brought ornate bronze grill work and brilliant color to lighting fittings. Candle light is first heralded in the Bible, but the Renaissance developed it to an elaborate stage with gorgeous crystal chandeliers and intricately wrought candelabra.

The burning knot of pitch pine, the whale oil lamp, the kerosene lamp and the gas burner have all done service in the illumination of American homes, and each has in turn retired before the modern magic of Electricity and Edison's incandescent lamp.

POLICE VICTORS IN GUN BATTLE

No Casualties As Pistols Blaze On Street;
Man Captured

Flushing, N. Y., Feb. 27.—A gun battle fought today as police and a lone bandit, who has terrorized this district for a month, battled in the streets while scores of residents watched from their windows.

When the hold-up man finally was captured, in a cellar after his ammunition gave out, he identified himself as Edward Schenkman, 25, said to be a son of a wealthy dry goods merchant in Pittsburgh.

He confessed, police say that early today he held up William Lefkowitz, taxi driver, who was robbed of $9 and his cab. As the bandit drove away, Lefkowitz's calls for help brought a patrolman who jumped on the running board of a passing car and gave chase. The bandit jumped from the taxi, dashed behind a trolley pole and opened fire on the patrolman.

Four other patrolmen heard the shooting and came running up to join the battle. When his ammunition ran out, the bandit made a dash for a house and was caught in the basement.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Feb. 27.—Exit slips and even the finest and thinnest of petticoats. Culotte costumes are the feature of some of the new spring collections in Paris and show one that girls will be boys this season, at least when they are doing their sports.

They are a far cry from the familiar long trousers worn at winter resorts, these neat little knee-length breeches of crepe de chine worn under short pleated sports skirts of the same material. They are made tight about the knees just covering the joint and often with a cuff piped in another material. The skirts are open in the front but sometimes there are buttons so that they can be fastened together if one wishes.

One of these new culotte costumes has yellow crepe de chine breeches buttoned tightly around the knee and a pleated skirt and white wool sweater. Another has a green jacket and sleeveless dress with blouse of cream white. The knickers are green. Both the jacket and skirt are pleated on one side.

Blue jersey crepe de chine breeches are seen under a skirt of red wool jersey divided down the middle or the front and worn with a blue sweater.

All kinds of color schemes are possible. Crepe de chine and jersey silks are the favorite materials. A very striking one in black and white satin has a little coat in two colors joined in an angular design with one white sleeve and one black and the little knickers are half and half as well.

A real trousers costume consists of a long coat of plain black taffeta and frock of figured crepe de chine.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

The Modern Hostess Entertains
at Tea

Entertaining informally at tea time is becoming more and more popular. Especially so is this true in the suburbs where there are delightful, roomy porches which can be used; tea wagons making serving easy.

What to offer guests is often a problem for the inexperienced hostess, but really it is the simple refreshments that are most appreciated. A good supply of sandwiches of various kinds is always essential. Then old fashioned cookies and fancy crackers are always liked. If cake is used it should be the sort that can be sliced, or some of the wee fancy cakes that may be conveniently eaten from the fingers. If the teas are of daily occurrence it is wiser to use the new large paper napkins to save a big laundering. Though lemon is almost universally used, with the spiced condiments added, yet cream must be present for the few who like it. One modern hostess has discarded the use of saucers under her cups, placing them on a tea plate which also holds the sandwiches and cakes. This makes it much easier than to hold both plates in the hands. A radical idea but rather sensible. Many hostesses are also using the tumblers for tea a la Russe, and the tall tumblers with glass spoons for the iced tea.

Among the newer sandwiches are the 'double deckers and canal boats.

A new way of making the sliced chicken or game sandwiches is to cut a round from the top slice about the size of a quarter and when the sandwiches are made fill in the hole with mint jelly, or with some sort of pickled relish. Or minced olives or chopped hard boiled egg mixed with mayonnaise, or chopped maraschino cherries, or a whole shrimp dipped in mayonnaise.

Sherberts are the only frozen dainties that are used at tea and they are generally made of fruit juice and flavoring.

This Valuable Service Saves Time When It Means

EVERY time you pay by check you save valuable time —sometimes only a few minutes, often more. Take a month's cancelled vouchers and estimate the value of the time it would have taken to make the same payments in cash. Then multiply by 12 to set the yearly saving. The amount will startle you.

Checking service has other values to you, too. It gives you a legal receipt. It makes efficient, easily-kept records of financial transactions, visualizing expenses for easy control. It keeps your money in a safe place, yet the purchasing power is always at your pen's point.

Probably over 90% of all business transactions today, involve the use of checks, but with increased banking costs, many accounts, profitable ten or fifteen years ago, actually represent a loss to the bank today.

The surplus left on deposit is the bank's only source of revenue from checking accounts. If funds are checked out as soon as deposits are made, naturally there is no surplus, no revenue and no compensation to the bank for the service. Yet it costs the bank just as much to handle 32 checks for the man who keeps no surplus on deposit as it does to handle 32 checks for you with a reasonable reserve always in the bank.

A checking account, properly used, is an important source of profit to you. Talk it over with your banker and arrange to put it at work immediately.

DINNER FOR CHOIR

Members of the official board of the First Christian church, aided by women of the congregation, entertained members of the choir, their families and the Sunday school orchestra Tuesday evening at one of the most enjoyable social functions ever held at the church.

The dinner was served in the Sunday school assembly room which was decorated in flags, paintings of patriots and novelties, making a patriotic atmosphere.

Among the honored guests were Miss Ida Rose, who directed the choir for four years, and was a member 50 years ago. Her sister, Mrs. Joseph T. Smith, was also present. Mrs. Smith sang in the choir 60 years ago. Mr. Smith has been a member of the choir for a period covering a half century. Mrs. Cora Irene Schwartz ranks next in line of service and is one of the soloists in the choir at the present time. Leonard Butz, 85, who is affiliated with the choir as a bass singer, was unable to attend.

The orchestra, under the direction of Samuel Krauss, talented young musician, delighted the guests with a number of selections.

This orchestra, under Krauss' training, is becoming one of the finest musical organizations in the section, it is stated.

Rev. C. F. Evans was toastmaster. The after dinner program was composed of these numbers:

Vocal solo, "The Oak," W. H. Matthews, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Berry; reading, "The Purple Bean," Miss Alice Hecker; piano solo, Ludwig Loeckey; vocal solo, solo, "Danny Boy" Mrs. Calvin Leasure.

J. William Pilson, director of the choir, gave fitting remarks.

WEST VIRGINIA HIT

Ohio River Adds To Flood Menace In State; Other Streams High

Charlestown, W. Va., Feb. 27.—The dreaded flood menace loomed over this state today.

Several small streams in southern West Virginia were reported on the rampage.

The Ohio river, at Huntington, W. Va., has been rising at the rate of six inches an hour for the last 24 hours.

Advices from Kanawha Falls indicated heavy volume of water in the big Kanawha river.

Tributaries of the Big Sandy and Guyan creeks flooded lowlands last night, disrupting traffic between Huntington, Logan and Williamson.

Trains on the Ohio river division of the Baltimore and Ohio were delayed from one to six hours by land slides at Letart, Mason county.

All dams on the Ohio and its tributaries were ordered lowered by U. S. Engineers here to give full sweep to torrents racing off the Ohio river watershed.

Messages from Clarksburg reported inundated lands at that city and Weston, and in the Buckhannon region, caused by the headwaters of the Monongahela river.

The Elk river was threatening to reach flood stage here today. The Greenbrier and Gauley rivers were also rising.

Zanesville, O. Feb. 27.—The Muskingum river at this point today was rising at the rate of one-tenth foot an hour and had passed the stage of 25 feet this morning. No immediate danger was felt as the city can withstand a flood stage of 30 feet, city officials said.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 27.—The flood menace, with its ever present spectre of loss of life and property damage, hovered over Pennsylvania today while raging rivers and streams in all parts of the state threatened to leave their banks. One life already has been lost, and in the Pittsburgh area northside streets were flooded, train tracks covered with water and basements in the Pittsburgh business district flooded with water.

The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers reached flood stage, 25 feet at Pittsburgh at 9 a. m. and the Ohio, at the point of the rivers meet, was slowly rising.

be added to the state revenue, it becomes a law, it was estimated.

It was pointed out that the bill as it now stands will give justices of the peace broader powers, inasmuch as one clause of the bill allows revocation of the license of a person for violation of the state or municipal auto laws. Furthermore, it was declared, the measure allows the sentencing of persons by justices of the peace and the right to revoke the license, thereby prohibiting the person from the right of driving for a year.

Explanation Given

Features of the bill, as it was passed by the senate, are briefly: No person shall be allowed to drive an auto in Ohio unless he holds a license, and all drivers must have the license certificate on their persons when driving.

Applicants for the license would be required to swear to an affidavit before notaries of public on their fitness and qualification to drive; and the consent of the parents or guardian must be obtained if the person is under 21 years of age.

Not only would the owner of the auto be required to have a drivers' license but every person driving the car must have one.

The license could be renewed yearly.

Penalty for operating without a license would be a fine of not more than $100 and an imprisonment sentence not to exceed three months, or both.

Other penalties are also included. Drivers failing to report an accident in which they were involved could be fined $50 and his license could be revoked. Penalty for giving false information in making application for the license would be a fine of

CHECKED THE WEAKNESS OF OLD AGE

This Man Forgot His Age In the New Vigor

"World's Tonic is certainly a boon to aged people. When the fires of life burn low in a man, he is subject to all kinds of ailments. I began to feel miserable until I began using World's Tonic. My stomach was unreliable. I had to take different kinds of physics to get my bowels to move, and would form in my stomach after eating and I had to get up several times a night on account of bladder and kidney trouble. My tongue was always coated and I felt miserable.

"One bottle made me feel ten years younger. My digestion improved at once, and I began to sleep like a baby. I felt better in every way and began to forget that I was 72. Since then I have gained strength until I am more like a man of 50." Mr. R. King, Steubenville, Ohio.

Literally thousands of old people have arrested the march of time with World's Tonic. This new medicine works on the system so that the infirmities of age disappear. The body is better able to throw off impurities and combat catarrhal troubles. Indigestion is improved and vigor and strength are increased.

FAMOUS ACTOR SERIOUSLY ILL

Charles Chaplin Suffers Relapse In Ptomane Poisoning Attack; Condition Low

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 27.—Suffering from the effects of ptomane poisoning, Charles Chaplin, famous comedian, experienced a relapse today.

His physician, Dr. Cecil Reynolds, was hurriedly summoned to the palatial Chaplin residence. Following an examination, he issued the following statement: "Mr. Chaplin's condition is uncomfortable. His temperature rose shortly before midnight."

The doctor's statement occasioned more anxiety over the eminent comedian's condition than at any time since Chaplin was stricken with the attack last Monday.

Indicating the existence of an emergency, all methods of communication between the Chaplin household and the outside world have been temporarily severed. Guards have been stationed around the big home. Telephones have been disconnected.

Rigid seclusion for the noted comic has been ordered by his physicians.

Bootleggers Busy Getting Supplies For Inauguration

Washington, Feb. 27.—Bootleggers were on the run in Washington today.

They were running in several directions, chiefly in and out of the District of Columbia, bringing in rye, gin and alcohol, and going out for additional supplies that the unofficial and "undercover" celebration of the advent of Herbert Hoover's administration may not be wanting in gaiety.

Some of the bootleggers were running from the police and federal enforcement officers, who have been unusually active in the last week in an effort to dry up the capital for the inauguration.

The bootleggers insisted that there would be an adequate stock on hand for the festivities, in spite of a demand that promises to tax the efficiency of the distribution system.

For regular customers there will be no advance in prices on the part of the "respectable and reliable" vendors of booze.

For the visitors prices will go high. An out of towners probably will be asked $10 to $12 for a quart of very young Maryland rye, $5 to $8 for gin and $10 to $13 for "genuine" smuggled Scotch. That's about twice the normal prices to regular customers.

To Levy Special Assessments for the

Salem High Conceded Only Slight Chance In Akron Tourney

Record of Red And Black Is Nothing Great

Stonemen Are Termed District's Dark Horse

For some reason or other, Salem High, for the past three or four years always considered one of the most prominent contenders for the Northeastern Ohio district title, is conceded little chance for the honor this season.

The Stonemen, winners in 13 of their 20 engagements, this season, are classed as the section's leading "in-and-outers." More than that, dopesters refuse to say in regards to the team, except, of course, that they are out of it as far as this tournament this week is concerned, before they enter it.

The reason for all this may be traced to the team's terrible start, in which decisions were dropped to six opponents in the first seven tilts. A temporary comeback featured the team's play for a period, when the Red and Black came through victorious in six straight games, but in the seventh, incidentally the thirteenth of the schedule—it was a woeful exhibition of courtwork which Coach Floyd Stone's lads displayed.

Loss to Youngstown East
Youngstown East, who, by the way, isn't considered so very "caliente" as far as the coming tournament is concerned, held Salem to three field goals, made the team look like a group of grammar school boys in the first basketball game of their life, and handed them a 20-11 wallowing.

The real highlights of the Salem season came in the team's showing at Akron, when Akron South was beaten on its home hardwood, and later along in the schedule, when Corl Zimmerman's Rubber City Garfield High proteges invaded the Quaker City court, and returned to the tire center with a 27-20 reverse trailing along with them. The Akron Central game, which Stone's team won, 46-17, was one of these natural—nothing else but a setup, as Central has come through on the long end in scores this season only three times.

Orville Fairly Strong
Orville didn't look at all bad last Saturday against Garfield, and held Joe Popeko and company to a 29-12 count. This Popeko chap is one of the Akron scholastic league's leading scorers, and was the only Garfield player able to break Orville's defense for points consistently.

This same Popeko demonstrated nothing wonderful with Zimmerman's team when it came to Salem and had his season's scoring average lessened considerably, when he scored his only point of the game from the grats stripe. The whole team, it seemed, was off in the last half, after it led the Salemites in the first two periods with ease.

So it's apparent that dopesters may have something to back their reasoning on. It's also apparent that the Stonemen will have nothing easy against Orville, but it cannot be denied that they do have a chance to come through and make a good showing.

Several Strong Teams
There are several strong teams in the competition who are given preference over Salem in picking probable winners. Four teams, Canton McKinley, Youngstown South, Ashland, and Akron Garfield were selected as "heat-leaders" or in other words were termed the strongest in the tourney, at the banquet last Sunday.

Salem was mentioned as one of the teams that might be placed in the "darkhorse" ranks but its record for the season prevented it being mentioned as one of the outstanding aggregations in this section.

Say what they will, Coach Floyd Stone will still be aiming to annex for the Red and Black its second district title, and hopes greatly to be able to send his team to Columbus. That the team is not doped as remarkable may be of advantage to it. It is certain that it is not making the error of under-estimating its opening adversary and in all probability, the team will put up a real battle for honors.

Lucky First Quarter Gives Collegians Win Over Furnace Five

College Piles Up Early Lead In Loop Game

McArtor Florists Annex Easy Decision Over Junior Saxons

A 15-point lead, piled up by the Salem Business College five in the first quarter, enabled the collegians to win their first start of the second half of the city league at Memorial gym, last night, over the Electric Furnace, by 33-28 score.

The opening session ended with the college quintet on the long end of a 19-4 count. The furnace-makers were outclassed throughout the frame, but in final periods the entire aspect of the game changed, as the collegians settled down to normal.

The college scoring combination, Andy Hann, Al Fernengel, and Les Older seemed possessed with some unearthly ability that enabled them to connect with baskets from all angles of the court in the first quarter. Goals literally poured in from all directions.

Electric Furnace basketeers had the upper hand of the play in the three remaining periods and fought hard, trying to overcome the heavy odds, and at one time were only three points in arrears. The lucky opener was decidedly the factor in the college five's victory.

Florists Win
McArtor Florists connected with an easy win over the allegedly bolstered Junior Saxons, in the opening game of the evening, 30-14. The new Saxons combination was unable to get going, and with Evan Jenkins tossing in enough buckets to win the game himself, was easily outclassed.

Sharkey Favored Over Stribling For Bout

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 27.—In the tropically colorful setting of Flamingo park, with its background of swaying palm trees, Jack Sharkey of Boston and W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., will battle tonight before the most distinguished that ever witnessed a prize fight. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds to a referee's decision and Sharkey is expected to enter the ring an 8 to 5 favorite.

It will be an intriguing spectacle from many angles. It will be the first appearance of Jack Dempsey in the role of promoter, and a successful one at that. For the box office receipts are expected to run up over the $350,000 mark. Then, too, the bout has whipped up sectional interest to fever point, with an army of southerners here to see their idol exchange blows with the slugging sailor from the north.

For sheer class, in the way of a fight crowd, tonight's outdoor event will surpass anything of its kind on record. A thousand or two millionaires, many of America's foremost celebrities and bejeweled society women will be among the 35,000 fans sitting in at the death, the cakewalk or whatever it may be. No one can figure either Sharkey or Stribling. Their bout may be a dud or a thriller, but, somehow, it has caught the imagination of the public.

Betting odds veered sharply in Sharkey's favor today because of the preponderance of Sharkey money. More than $100,000 Sharkey money was lying uncovered in chunks ranging from $50,000 to $5,000 and the odds shifted from even money to 7 to 5 on Sharkey. Stribling money was strangely quiet in pre-battle wagering in spite of the large number of southern fans who are pulling hard for the handsome young Macon boy to win. Odds of 8 to five or 7 to 1 on Sharkey may prevail at ring time.

The consensus of sports writers is that Sharkey will beat Stribling. Eight out of every ten writers make this prediction. One of the factors that influences their judgment is the lack of weight carried by Stribling. Many believe he will not tip the beam as high as 180. He looks much lighter than Sharkey and besides he injured his right hand slightly and twisted a rib while punching the heavy bag a week ago.

Stribling, however, said he is in fine physical condition, and he predicted that he will win by a K. O.

"I Have Found New and Splendid Health All Over," Declares Lady Who Found a Surprise In New Medicine

MRS. KATHERINE NEMCS
Stomach trouble and nervousness just about made a wreck of me in five years, and to be well again gave me more joy than I can describe and that is why I praise Konjola," said Mrs. Katherine Nemcs, 283 Hollywood Boulevard, Youngstown, Ohio.
"Even the lightest foods caused gas, bloating and general misery. I could not sleep at night, I was so nervous. The smallest noises irritated me, and my general health was running low. After meals the gas pressure was so severe that I felt my heart would stop beating any minute."
"After reading, day by day, about Konjola, I regained new hope and faith and decided to give it a trial. Two bottles did me so much good that I realized I was, at last, on the road to health. I took four more bottles and today my nerves are strong as steel, every sign of indigestion has disappeared, and I can eat and sleep like a normal, healthy person. Many of my friends are taking this medicine and it is doing all and more than is claimed for it."
"Konjola is sold in Salem, O., at J. H. Lease drug stores and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.—Adv.

It costs a thousand dollars more to equal CHRYSLER Performance in any other car

CHRYSLER engineers from the outset disregarded all other performance standards and all other design. They set themselves to establish definitely the most modern principles and fundamentals of engineering and to apply them in a brand new way.

The same processes which based the new Chrysler style on the canons of classic beauty worked step by step to provide performance unlike any other in the industry—founded on a new and fresh interpretation of the basic principles of engineering design.

It is because of this Chrysler plan and the achievement of this plan, that an entirely new motor car performance has been brought into being.

The extraordinary acceleration, smooth speed, ease of handling and control, compactness, comfort, durability and long life, together with the unusual safety and stamina which characterize Chrysler, have all been combined in a car whose qualities can only be approached by other cars costing hundreds, yes, even a thousand dollars more.

It is no wonder that Chrysler engineers, working with that singleness of idea and surety of approach to every problem, should create a product built as none was ever built before and better than any other.

New Chrysler "65"—Six body styles, $1040 to $1145. New Chrysler "75"—Nine body styles, $1335 to $2345. New Chrysler Imperial—Five custom body styles, $2675 to $3475. All prices f. o. b. factory.

RELIABLE USED CARS

It pays to go to the Buick Dealer

Two used cars may look much the same from the outside. Mileage, model, tires and general appearance may be all about alike.

Yet there may be a great deal of difference nevertheless—a difference in mechanical condition which will soon show up in actual driving.

You have only the word of the dealer to go by.

That's why it pays to go to the Buick dealer. You can rely on what he says. And you may be sure his price is fair.
